Figure C The number of employees employed in England that the body has at the end of that period.	31 March 2018 3193
Figure D The number of apprentices who work for the body at the end of that period. Public bodies are also required to provide two percentages in order to give context to the other figures. These percentages do not reflect the progress a public body has made towards the target:	31 March 2018 93

In addition, the Apprenticeship Activity Return (Return Section 2) requires public bodies to send the following figures, which will help identify their progress towards meeting the target, to the Department for Education. Public bodies could also consider providing these figures in the Data Publication:
