

Redcar & Cleveland Voices for Real Change Co-production Charter

Our vision for Co-production:

Co-production is at the heart of what we do.

Open, inclusive and people are treated equally.

Every contribution shapes real change to build stronger communities.

Our vision and guiding principles were co-produced by Redcar & Cleveland Voices for Real Change which includes people with lived experience of adult social care, staff and partners.

We commit to delivering our vision for co-production using the following principles:

Achievable

We agree on what we're aiming for, what's doable, so we can work well together and make it happen.

Positive

We build and maintain positive relationships based on mutual respect and trust, focusing on what matters

Open

We are open and honest about decisions, expectations, limits and how things will work, and we communicate clearly.

Collaborative

We work together including different views, experiences and backgrounds, making sure everyone has the chance to be involved in a way that suits them.
